

Forest Gardens for a Future

With

Graham Bell Author of The Permaculture Way & The Permaculture Garden

Who lives at Garden Cottage in the Scottish Borders – the longest established intentional food forest garden in Britain. Taught on six continents across thirty years.

Tomas Remiarz Author of Forest Gardening in Practice

Twenty years' experience of teaching internationally and creating forest gardens. Lives in a rural co-housing project in Herefordshire.

This course will be taught online on the following dates:

Monday March 15      Wednesday March 17

Monday March 29      Wednesday March 31

Each session will open at 1pm GMT and will be taught from 1.30pm- 5.30pm and close at 6pm. The first and last half hour are available for people to arrive become acquainted and chat.

The curriculum is exhaustive and will cover how to design implement and maintain a Forest Garden, looking at inputs outputs and benefits of a systematic approach.

Costs will be at attendee discretion: Desired contribution £240, Average (suggested for household income over £14K) £160, and for people on lower incomes £80. We do not wish people to be excluded, so if you have any concerns about cost please do speak with us. Please bear in mind that paying more makes it easier for us to include people who have income restrictions.

If you have further questions please feel to contact us:

Graham Bell graham@grahambell.org 01890 88 2448 I am manging bookings

If you want to book e-mail me and I will respond

Tomas Remiarz tomas.remiarz@yahoo.co.uk